

Digital Rights Management Handler and Related Methods

Abstract of the Disclosure

A system and method of providing universal digital rights management system protection is described. One feature of the invention concerns systems and methods for repackaging and securing data packaged under any file format type, compression technique, or digital rights management system. Another feature of the invention is directed to systems and methods for securing data by providing scalability through the use of modular data manipulation software objects.

PATENT

S:\DOCS\JFK\JFK-2399.DOC 051903